

Traffic light upgrades on Centenary Drive, Strathfield from Sunday 16 August

The NSW Government is upgrading Sydney's road network, easing congestion, improving traffic flow, reducing travel times and making the roads safer.

Transport for NSW will upgrade the traffic lights at two intersections on Centenary Drive, Strathfield.

We will replace underground cables, upgrade electrical pits and two traffic light posts at the Centenary Drive and Weeroona Road intersection. This work will take 25 night shifts to complete.

During our work at the Centenary Drive and Arthur Street intersection we will install a new overhead traffic light post and adjust the kerb and gutters. This work will take 10 night shifts to complete.

Our work aims to:

- increase safety
- provide consistent driving conditions
- reduce maintenance costs.

Thank you for your patience during this important work.

How will the work affect you?

We need to carry out this work at night to minimise traffic disruptions and reduce safety risks to our workers and other road users.

Our work at both intersections will require us to dig up parts of the footpath and road surface. This will be noisy. We will do everything we can to minimise the impacts, including completing jack hammering and saw cutting by midnight.

We will restore the road and footpath when the work is complete.

Traffic changes

There will be temporary traffic changes during our work hours to ensure the work zone is safe.

Please keep to speed limits and follow signs and traffic controllers' directions. For the latest traffic updates, you can call 132 701, visit livetraffic.com or download the Live Traffic NSW App.
